

appear in the year book. It was decided that a Who's Who should be featured again this year.

ABOUT NOTHING IN PARTICULAR

Thinking of a topic to write an editorial about is quite a job anymore. Time was when there was plenty to complain about, but it is becoming more and more difficult to find a legitimate gripe. We are very glad this is the case and for this edition we'll just use this space to clean up a few odds and ends.

Our assistant for a new masthead is still open. It does not close until Thanksgiving Day so get busy and help us out. We'll get the five dollars for the prize, however, although we haven't yet discovered the source.

We believe that the paper is improving. The new journalism class has proved to be very active and just what the Trail Blazer needed to give it some life. Along the same line, we rely heavily on the club reporters for material and hope that they will continue to cooperate as they have for the past two editions. All in all things are going pretty well and that's something unusual for the editor of any paper to say.

Just before you accuse us of sinking into total complacency, take a look at the article on page four which we reprinted from the Tennessee Tech Ogle in which we turn had reprinted it from the University of Toledo Collegian.

AMERICANISM

Americanism means different things to different people. To some it means a blind faith that America will come out on top merely because it is America. To others it means the word America has magic in it which means that this country can do no wrong, make no mistakes, and will always emerge triumphant. This should not be what we mean, when we use the word.

To us, the word means working toward the ideals which we recognize as good and allowing others to do the same. It means intelligently following the efforts of our government and offering constructive criticism. It means tolerance of others and the ideals so long as they do not try to trample our rights. It means taking part in any world-wide effort which is designed to aid humanity as a whole. It means a good many things, but foremost it means devotion to the American ideal that the individual is important and is not merely a cog in the machine of state.

ART DEPARTMENT COOPERATION

In this issue for the first time the Trail Blazer is using its new column heads which were generously worked out for us by members of the Art Department. Sammy Miller is responsible for the bookcase drawing; Wendell Dobyns drew "From the Sides"; and we and Neil Hamilton contributed the "Levi's Den" heading. We hope you will agree with us that the new heads added much to our paper.

READER EDITORIALS

Dear Editor:

As a former editor of the Trail Blazer, 1935-36 and assistant editor, 1934-35, I enjoy looking over the paper I slaved on in my days. Since this week is a homecoming and I won't get to get back, I thought I'd write you a note. Think you are doing a good job on the paper but you should prevail on the proper authorities to let you get it out weekly. We got it out on a weekly basis while I was in school and that is the way it should be.

Just a few notes on the fellows in school then that I have some contact with now:

Art: Moore, editor 34-35, English teacher at U.K.; H. K. "Mook" Collins, Stenial Column editor, Industrial Arts teacher at Durham; M. C. Harry King Lowman, Sports Editor, politician at Ashland; Allen Payne, feature editor, lawyer at Lexington and Winchester.

Dr. Edward Bell, MD, with offices in Louisville, and wife, Katharine Jackson Bell, taking care of three daughters; Charles Barnes, proprietor of Chamber Corner Restaurant, in Louisville; Eljah Grin, a doctor, now with a bank in Louisville; Jimmy Noe, foot baller, now a union official in Louisville.

Hope you have a big homecoming and best Eastern.

Sincerely — PAUL W. HOLMAN, JR.

(Editor's Note: Possibly the calibre of college editors is deteriorating. We can scarcely manage a paper every two weeks. How did you do it, Paul?)

Dear Editor:

We wish to announce the "Open Forum Club" recently organized. The club, sponsored by Mr. Charles E. Apel, has plenty of room for new members, the only requirement being that you be of the "Open Forum" type (of course).

The following officers have been elected: Collic B. Cornett, President; Stanley R. Wheeler, Vice-President; Robert Thornberry, Secretary; Douglas Danks, Treasurer; Arns; Billy Van Derpool and Edward R. Hazlett, tellers.

ROBERT THORNBERY.

This one we saw ourselves— "Have one on the house." Said the dog. "No thanks. I just had one on the house."

"What's worse than being a bachelor?"

"A wise senior tells us that the reason they have such small lions on the Statue of Liberty is that the less light the more liberty."

THE TRAIL BLAZER

KENTUCKY INTERCOLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION
Official newspaper of Morehead State College, published bi-weekly except on vacations and holidays and once each summer session. Entered as second class mail at the Post Office at Morehead, Kentucky, under act of Congress of March 3, 1879. Subscription price 50¢ per semester in advance.

Associated Colofide Press
Kempsey Press Association
National Editors' Association

MANAGING EDITOR: BOB POPPE
EDITOR: GLEN MILLER
BUSINESS MANAGER: HOWARD MCCANN
FEATURE EDITOR: MARLENE BREWER
PHOTOGRAPHER: BOB POPPE
REPORTERS: Dick Richardson, Harold Bellamy, Lelia Clark, Maxine Y. Fahn, James Kiger, Don Thompson, Thomas R. Curtis, Ethel Cecher, Billie Jo Miller, John Leonard, Wm. M. Martin, Frank Kirby, Nick Merlino, Betty Holbrook, Lillian Burris.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS
MRS. CORINNE BARROWS
GUY MILES
ROSS ANDERSON

Little Man On Campus

Sportsperson announcement: Ladies and gentlemen! Such sportsman! Even in the last few minutes, Old University won't give up!

Cornpone

Men are like cellophane-transparent, but hard to remove once you get wrapped up in them. — Grace Moore

Good breeding consists in concealing how much we think of ourselves and how little we think of the other person. — Mark Twain

Veteran's News

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wesley will spend the Thanksgiving holidays in Philadelphia with their daughter, Jo Ann, who is now Director of Christian Education at the First Methodist Church there. Jo Ann graduated from Morehead State College and is now a member of the Ashland Junior College, Ashland College of Commerce, Ashland Watchman, and the Ashland Trade School.

Mr. John Henderson, farmer-ship of the center, is now working from the Regional Office of Louisville, which is in the center of training in this area Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Forrest Patrick, training faculty specialist of this center, is taking training in this area Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Walter F. Hayes, veteran employment representative at Kentucky, visited this Guidance Center, Thursday.

Women are never satisfied. They are always trying to either put on weight, take it off, or rearrange it.

"This one we saw ourselves— "Have one on the house." Said the dog. "No thanks. I just had one on the house."

"What's worse than being a bachelor?"

"A wise senior tells us that the reason they have such small lions on the Statue of Liberty is that the less light the more liberty."

Little Man On Campus

Since the last issue of this rag I see that we have a new headmaster. That is fine and good. I only wish the rest of this department could be that good. But it isn't supposed to be good to start with. There have been some repercussions about the last column. I don't know how I did not offer any apologies at all. The writer of that mess that Johnny riled me is I have been falsely accused. I could hit the floor. I did not take his you know.

The home coming dance produced some nice things. When the old grad were gathering around Don Ross stole away and got another wife to support him. Congrats. To the new Mrs. I say this. He asked me to say something nice about him this week and it just beats the heck out of me to find anything nice to say. However, for your information he won't work so you had better keep your job if you want to eat. On second thought you had better start working a donation at the First Methodist Church. He said that if you don't like his homecoming, you can go to a roommate with his clothes. I broke a promise to some people the other day and here is the public apology. I have caused friends Kibby breaking his promise too. I have been tricked as he says and that don't count.

Mr. Covington and Mr. McGraw are still hard at work trying to get their part of the new college catalogue done. I have heard about this before, you know, new catalogues, new buildings, new and that and none of them have materialized thus far.

When Betty J. and Willard asked me to try to find some shots of corn for the Sadie Hawkins Day, I nearly kicked over it. I took them an hour and a half to convince me that they meant shots of corn. I swear these people, these days.

All of which has nothing to do with a recent ad that I saw in the "Wallpaper" newspaper of Berea College. The ad reads: "We are still hard at work because you don't have an engagement ring? You needn't be ill at ease in public. Get a ring from HORTONS' large display of rings. All of which our ladies should give some of you some."

Alumni News

Here is a run-down of what some of our alumni are doing since they graduated from Morehead State College.

Sam Johnson, class of '41, is now a federal employee at New Albany, Ind.

Paul Maxwell, class of '41, is going to college now as a medical student.

Margaret Allen, class of '40, is working on her M.S. at the University of Tennessee.

George H. Wiggins, class of '40, is now Supervisor of Floyd County Schools.

Robert C. Goodwin, class of '40, is a Time Study Engineer at Albion, Ohio.

Teaching for third grade in the Louisville School System is Virginia Karriek Wheeler, class of '40.

One of the class of '36, Mrs. Opal Bassler is teaching in the South Portsmouth High School. Also teaching at South Portsmouth High School is Jewell Woodson, Morehead's class of '40.

Skilled Workers Director Robert C. Goodwin reports that fast-growing demands of civilian and defense industries have created shortages of skilled workers. Trained metal workers are needed most. Although there is a considerable demand for chemists throughout the country, the largest requirements are reported in Pennsylvania, Kansas and Oregon.

Little Man On Campus

Since the last issue of this rag I see that we have a new headmaster. That is fine and good. I only wish the rest of this department could be that good. But it isn't supposed to be good to start with. There have been some repercussions about the last column. I don't know how I did not offer any apologies at all. The writer of that mess that Johnny riled me is I have been falsely accused. I could hit the floor. I did not take his you know.

The home coming dance produced some nice things. When the old grad were gathering around Don Ross stole away and got another wife to support him. Congrats. To the new Mrs. I say this. He asked me to say something nice about him this week and it just beats the heck out of me to find anything nice to say. However, for your information he won't work so you had better keep your job if you want to eat. On second thought you had better start working a donation at the First Methodist Church. He said that if you don't like his homecoming, you can go to a roommate with his clothes. I broke a promise to some people the other day and here is the public apology. I have caused friends Kibby breaking his promise too. I have been tricked as he says and that don't count.

Mr. Covington and Mr. McGraw are still hard at work trying to get their part of the new college catalogue done. I have heard about this before, you know, new catalogues, new buildings, new and that and none of them have materialized thus far.

When Betty J. and Willard asked me to try to find some shots of corn for the Sadie Hawkins Day, I nearly kicked over it. I took them an hour and a half to convince me that they meant shots of corn. I swear these people, these days.

All of which has nothing to do with a recent ad that I saw in the "Wallpaper" newspaper of Berea College. The ad reads: "We are still hard at work because you don't have an engagement ring? You needn't be ill at ease in public. Get a ring from HORTONS' large display of rings. All of which our ladies should give some of you some."

Church News

A communion breakfast for members of the Newman Club will be held Sunday morning, November 2nd, at the Newman Club. Mrs. Grace Ford, of Battlement Avenue, The breakfast hour will be from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. This will be the first of a series of such breakfasts for the year for the Newman Club. Dr. H. J. McShane and Mrs. Corinne Barnes are sponsoring the organization.

The Youth Fellowship Group of the First Church of God and Christ will have a social night at 8:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 2nd. Games were played before and after the social. The program was concluded by a short devotion. The group hopes to have more social gatherings in the future.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship Organization of the local church will have a social meeting Sunday, November 3rd at 8:30 p.m. After the program refreshments were served.

Club Notes

Coffee Club met Wednesday, November 1st at 7:30. Fourteen members attended and heard a protracted discussion on "Good and Evil." The discussion was lively and animated by the members of the club. The club elected Ruth Phillips as president which made her the only officer which the club has. The club strives to be informal and feels that too many officers would restrict its discussions. Hot coffee, of course, was enjoyed throughout the proceedings.

The Circus Français Requiéres Parituellement les Eleves

Bientôt sera un nouveau magasin dans une bibliothèque, rue d'Appelle. C'est un magasin similaire que "Life." C'est à dire, plus de photographes, plus de livres, plus de livres intéressés les élèves. Tous les élèves de Français sont sur cette.

Kappa Mu Club met in the lobby of Thompson Hall at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 30th. The meeting was assisted by Frank Stuart and Charlie Apel, took the picture for the Banner and the National. He explained that over a short business meeting immediately after the picture was taken. After a prolonged discussion as to the date, the place, the picnic was decided upon for Monday evening, November 6th.

Since winners were decided to be the main dish, the question was asked, "Is it a picnic or a 'winner roast'?" Now there's a meeting with intellect, culture and an intense desire to know the exact facts.

Y. W. C. A.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. heard some of the most interesting talks on the Y. W. C. A. and Miss Sue Banks and Miss

